Sealed Refill Dispensers Prove Safer than Open Bulk Dispensers

Nearly 25% of soap from open refillable dispensers in public restrooms and schools is highly contaminated with bacteria according to a recent study.* This same study also found that washing with soap from bulk dispensers instead of soap from sealed refills left 10 times as many bacteria on students' hands and may play a role in transmission of bacteria in schools.

*In a study conducted by GOJO Industries and The University of Arizona, 2009.
